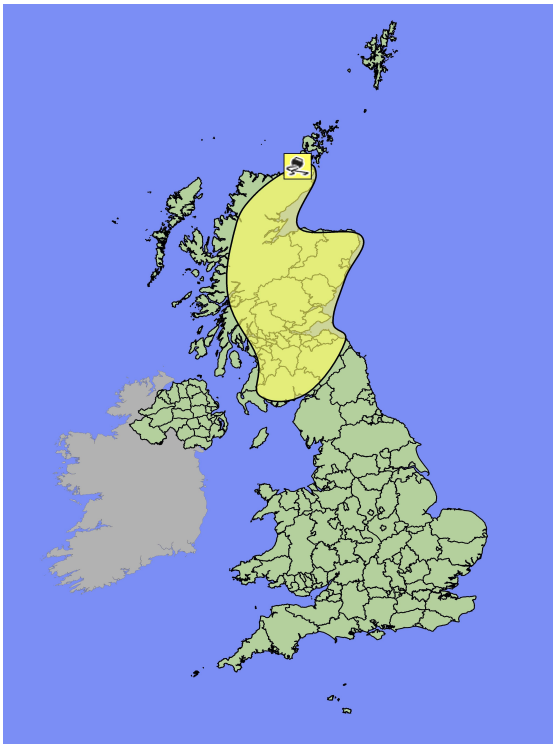
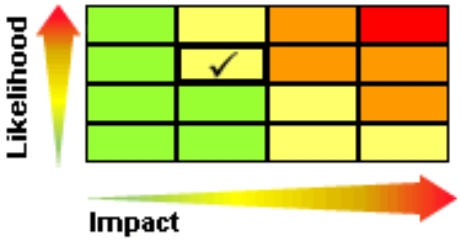
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
As the mixture of rain, sleet and snow clears surfaces will be left cold and wet, allowing ice to form. A second frontal system coming in from the northwest is likely to being further rain or showers on Monday, falling as snow on the hills.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Ice

Valid from 12:05 on Sun, 13th Jan 2013 until 12:00 on Mon, 14th Jan 2013

Icy stretches are expected to form on untreated roads and pavements during Sunday afternoon, Sunday night and Monday morning. In addition, light sleet and snow will continue to clear eastwards on Sunday afternoon with slight accumulations above 200 m. A further band of sleet and snow will affect high level routes for a time on Monday morning.

The public should be aware of possible travel disruption.
